

THE announcement of the betrothal of President Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt, which was made from the White House the other day, caused no little surprise all over the United States. Aside from the fact that Mrs. Galt has been seen much in the company of the president for the past year no one seemed to think it likely that engagement would follow the acquaintance.

Mrs. Galt, who is a wealthy widow, has played a prominent part in society in Washington, and she is quite capable of presiding as mistress of the White House, that place having been held admirably for the past year by Miss Margaret Wilson, the eldest daughter of the president. Miss Wilson, however, is going on a concert tour this winter and will be seen very little in the official circles.

The wedding will take place some time in December and from rumors will be a very quiet one. Col. E. M. House of Texas and New York, a close friend of the president, will be the best man, and Mrs. Galt will be given away by one of her brothers. It is to have a fair attendance as yet. Naturally there has been much speculation as to whether or not the engagement is looked upon with approval by the president's daughters; but if they have not approved they have shown no outward sign. Mrs. Galt has for some time been a friend of Miss Margaret Wilson, and it was she who introduced the widow to her father. Since their meeting, Mrs. Galt has been invited to all of the formal and informal affairs that have taken place at the White House and has often been entertained by Miss Wilson at her home in Cornhill.

The day the engagement was made known to the public the president and his fiancée spent the afternoon visiting relatives and receiving calls from their friends. From all over the United States came words of congratulation were sent to the president, and even from Hawaii an invitation was extended for him to spend his honeymoon in the "Isles of Peace." It is quite likely that he and his bride will make a trip to the Pacific Coast and it is to be hoped that they will decide to come westward to Hawaii.

Commercial Club Will Give Dinner-Dance.

A social occasion distinctly out of the ordinary and indicating new interest in Commercial Club affairs is announced in the following invitation sent out to club members by the entertainment committee:

"Let's Dance and Grow Young Together."

"A dinner-dance—informal and of that hospitable kind you'll remember—will be given for club members and their ladies in the cool main dining-room Saturday, October 16, at 7 p. m.

"The committee in charge wants you to come and promises you a delightful evening.

"If you help to make this occasion successful, there will be others equally as pleasant.

"Please let us know at once by signing and mailing the enclosed card."

Army Newlyweds to Come Here.

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Oler Kimberly, daughter of Mrs. John B. Kimberly, and Lieut. Harold F. Locin, in Coast Artillery, U. S. A., took place at the post chapel, Fort Monroe, Va., Sept. 8, 1915, in the presence of only near relatives and a few close friends. Chaplain Aldred A. Pruden officiated. The bride was crowned in white tulle and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids; the bride's sister, Miss Ann Brown Kimberly, was maid of honor and carried purple orchids; the best man was Lieut. John S. MacTargart, C. A. C. The newly wed couple will sail on the October transport for Honolulu—Army and Navy Journal.

Mrs. Royal D. Mead Entertains.

Mrs. Royal D. Mead invited a number of her friends and those interested in music to her home on Wednesday to hear Mrs. D. L. Stone, wife of Captain Stone, and Frank Moss, a pupil of Harold Bauer in piano. Mrs. Stone has a rich contralto voice and the townspeople have welcomed her visits from Schofield Barracks. Mrs. Mead received her guests in the drawing-room, which was artistically arranged with ferns and cut flowers. Among those present were Mrs. M. F. Prosser, Mrs. L. Tenney Peck, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Robbins B. Anderson, Mrs. George Casper, and others.

Honolulu People Visit San Mateo.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hopper, Miss Alice Hopper, W. M. Templeton, Miss Florence Yarrow and Miss Carrie Gilman, all of Honolulu, were San Mateo visitors yesterday. They expressed themselves as delighted with San Mateo. Hillsborough and Burlingame. W. Johnson, maker of the celebrated Johnson pipe organ, accompanied the people. While in San Mateo they visited Hart's theater, and Miss Florence Yarrow, who is the organist of the Kaunakapili church in Honolulu, played several selections on the big Johnson organ. Miss Gilman sang a number of songs. The party returned last night to San Francisco, where they are staying at the Cliff hotel and visiting the exposition.—San Mateo News.

Dance at Punahou Academy.

The "Mighty Seniors" and members of the class of 1916 were hosts to the trembling "freshies" last night at Punahou Academy, the dance taking place in Paunah hall. All hostilities were ended in the tank yesterday afternoon when the freshmen received their ducking and to show that they were not really so bad, the seniors gave one of the most successful balls in the history of the school. Green and gold were the colors which predominated in decoration, though pennants of schools all over America were displayed. Coropis and goldenrod with sprays of green vines carried out the color of the class of 1919.

Though the academy has made simple dresses a rule this year, the girls were charming in their new frocks, some of tulle, some of taffeta.

The Misses Mary and Hilda von Holt.

Miss Katharine Schmidt, a visitor in Honolulu and a niece of Major and Mrs. Fauntleroy of Fort Kamehameha, was the complimented guest at an informal luncheon given by the Misses Mary and Hilda von Holt at their home in Nuuanu valley on Wednesday. Daintily arranged as a centerpiece were Dorothy Perkins roses interspersed with maidenhair fern. Corsages of the same flower were placed at each cover.

Miss Schmidt is an attractive girl of the brunette type. Her home is in York, New Hampshire. She will be entertained extensively this winter. How long Miss Schmidt plans to remain in Honolulu is yet uncertain.

Among those present were Miss Betty Case, Mrs. Ted Cooke, Mrs. Ferdinand Hedemann, Miss Peggy Carter, Miss Anor Hall, Miss Harriet Hatch, Miss Hilda von Holt and Miss Mary von Holt.

Reeves-Cunningham Nuptials.

In the presence of a small group of friends and relatives, Lewis B. Reeves and Miss Julia Cunningham were wedded in St. Andrew's cathedral at half past three on Thursday afternoon. Bishop Restarick officiating. The bride wore white, and carried in her hand a beautiful bouquet of bridal roses. She was given in marriage by Mrs. Frank Fyler. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Taylor assisted at the wedding.

Immediately following the marriage the young couple left by automobile for the windward side of the island to spend a two weeks' honeymoon. They have taken a cottage on the beach near Waimanalo. Both Mr. and Mrs. Reeves are well known in Honolulu, the groom having been for several years inspector at the local customs house. Mrs. Reeves is a Buford, South Carolina girl, and has been up to the time of the wedding employed as a nurse at the Fort Shafter hospital. They will make their residence on Green street. Both have many friends here who join in extending best wishes.

Tramp Up Nuuanu.

There have been a number of suggestions for forming a tramping club for Honolulu's young people, and while this has not been done as yet, the young folks are thinking of it and while they are thinking they are taking occasional journeys into the mountains. A number of young people are following the Cooke trail tomorrow and will explore the wilds of Nuuanu valley. Among the hikers-to-be are Miss Leonora Anderson, physical director of the Y. W. C. A., Electa Williams, Ruth Seybolt, Bessie Seybolt, Miriam Stacker, Sybil Carter, Shirley Bush, Sam Carter, Frederick Carter, Sam Stacker, Edwin Ideler, Leslie

Thompson, Campbell Crozier, Warner Dazile and others.

Of Interest to Service Folk.

Capt. John Cantwell, stationed for years on the California coast and whose home is on Buckley avenue, Sausalito, has been transferred to Newbern, North Carolina, to command the Coast Guard steamer Pamlico. Between December and April his ship will cruise along Pamlico Sound, south along Albemarle Sound. North Carolina is Captain Cantwell's original home and he is specially pleased with the fine complement of officers and men, as well as the beautifully fitted quarters in the Pamlico. Always fond of Marin county, a return trip has been planned to greet his California friends and visit Sausalito.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Interesting Man in California.

An interesting personality is Ed. W. Howe, one of the famous country editors of the United States, and the man who made the "Athletic Globe" a widely-quoted paper from ocean to ocean despite the fact that Atholton has but 7000 souls in its census. Howe is the author of "The Story of a Country Town," a book which has run through 17 editions.

Recently he came to San Francisco after touring the world, and was entertained Thursday at Old Faithful by the Union Pacific exhibit's manager, J. R. Kathrens, who started as a printer's "devil" in the "Globe" office 30 years ago. With the author is his daughter, Miss Matel Howe, and his son, James H. Howe. The famous humorist, who made his little newspaper known through its witty paragraphs, has now retired from active service and is going to write up the exposition and the Pacific Coast for the "folks back home."—San Francisco Examiner.

Mr. and Mrs. Gignoux at Monterey.

A. J. Gignoux, a member of the public utilities commission of Hawaii, with his wife and child, who have been spending the past 10 days in Carmel, left for San Francisco on the Del Monte Express this morning. Mr. Gignoux will visit the exposition while in the city. Before his arrival in Monterey, Mr. Gignoux had visited the Big Basin and Santa Cruz, but of the two coast resorts visited this place, so he says, has the most superior climate, and he was surprised to learn of such a place and find it so little advertised.

The surf of this coast—at Carmel, Pebble Beach and Monterey—more nearly resembles Hawaii than any place he had previously visited. The water is more agreeable. There is more life in the air. He is certain that anyone coming here from the islands would find the place ideal. Mr. Gignoux and family will sail for Hawaii on October 6.—Monterey, Cal., American.

$30,000,000 Bride Back From Hawaii.

The $30,000,000 bride, Mrs. H. H. Spaulding of Chicago, and her husband arrived in San Francisco on the Matsonia yesterday morning, after a honeymoon in Hawaii. They spent several weeks in the islands and visited the volcano as well as other points of interest.

"It was just too wonderful," said the heiress. "Hawaii is so beautiful that one wishes to stay there always."

Mal and Mrs. Dashiells entertained at a delightful dinner last Friday in their quarters in the main post. Covers were placed for eight, and after dinner several rubbers of bridge were enjoyed.

Last Sunday morning Lieut. and Mrs. Richardson and Lieut. and Mrs. Black motored out to Haleiwa where they enjoyed a delicious picnic luncheon on the beach.

Last Sunday, October 3, Capt. and Mrs. Jamerson, Mrs. Damon and Master Osmund Jamerson motored out to the country place of Mr. and Mrs. Dillingham for luncheon.

Lieut. and Mrs. Carl A. Hardigg were the guests of Mrs. Hardigg's uncle, Mr. McCandless of Honolulu, at luncheon Sunday at the Haleiwa hotel.

Lieut. Adrien Polhemus will sail for San Francisco on the November transport to take advantage of the 25 days' leave recently granted him.

son-in-law of Surgeon E. Black entertained last night at a party at the Hotel Station, Pearl Harbor. Covers were laid for Surgeon and Mrs. Seaman, Miss Mackenzie, Miss Frost, Mrs. Parks, Naval Constructor Furer, Civil Engineer Smith and Civil Engineer Burrell, who acted as host.

Mrs. Howard Ellis Entertains.

Complimenting Mrs. Charles Frazier and Mrs. M. T. Clegg, who left on Wednesday in the Wilhelmina, Mrs. Howard Ellis entertained at a prettily appointed card party. The colors used in decoration were entirely in pink. Rare varieties of the pink hibiscus were used in quantities about the house. Among Mrs. Ellis' guests were the honorees, Mrs. Frazier and Mrs. Clegg, Mrs. E. B. Blake, Mrs. F. C. Lyset, Mrs. Randolph Mason, Miss Myra Angus, Miss Gene Angus, Miss Florence Hoffman, Mrs. William M. Munter.

Lieut. and Mrs. Charles McCord Entertain.

Lieut. and Mrs. Charles McCord entertained at a delightfully informal dinner party on Monday aboard the U. S. S. Alert. A color scheme of lavender and white was carried out with lavender asters and lavender place cards. After dinner the guests danced to the piano on the upper decks. There were present Miss Louise Richards, Miss Dorothy Hawk, Miss Ruth Stacker, Miss Elroy Vanderkloot, Miss Hamilton and the host and hostess.

Home From Honolulu.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, who went to Honolulu last year to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Dillingham, returned in June and have been spending the summer at Woods Hole, Mass. They expect to come to Chicago about October 1 and have taken an apartment at the Blackstone Hotel until the middle of November. After that their plans are indefinite.

Mrs. Outhbert C. Adams of Winnetka arrived home last evening from Woods Hole, Mass., where she has been visiting Dr. and Mrs. Adams.—Chicago Post.

Mrs. M. F. Prosser Entertains.

Mrs. M. F. Prosser was hostess at her home yesterday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Rowan and Miss Baum of New York, who are visiting the islands. Miss Hattangle, Mrs. O. A. Young, Mrs. E. D. Kilbourne, Mrs. Robbins Anderson, Mrs. C. G. Ballentyne, Miss Marie Ballentyne, Miss Geraldine Berg and Mrs. Reynolds McGrew were among Mrs. Prosser's guests.

From Honolulu.

Major and Mrs. Frank Cheatham will arrive from Honolulu early next month. Major Cheatham has been on duty with the quartermaster's department of the army for three years and is to be stationed in the states. Mrs. Cheatham, who was Miss May Demmans of this city, will visit her relatives here for a time.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Sandona Portraits Popular.

Mateo Sandona, the artist, who was in Honolulu about 10 years ago and again about two years ago, is living in San Francisco this summer and has painted the portraits of a number of California's best known women. The pictures are all popular. While here the artist painted members of the Cooke family, the Walter-Hedemann family and many others. Miss Mildred Bynum, Miss Anna Peters, Miss Helen Hamilton, Mrs. Daniel Jackling are among those whose portraits were exhibited recently at a reception given by Mr. Sandona and his wife.

New Acquisition to Honolulu Music Circles.

Mrs. Frank Moss, former pupil of Harold Bauer and dean of the California Conservatory of Music, has come to make his home in Honolulu and was heard this week at a musicale given by Mrs. Royal D. Mead, president of the Morning Music Club. Mr. Moss studied with Harold Bauer in Paris, where he resided for a number of years. The noted pianist has been persuaded to open a school of music in Honolulu and where in California he has dealt more with finished musicians he will take beginners also in his work here.

At the musicale on Wednesday Mr. Moss inspired a number of the women who have given up their piano work and practice long ago to begin over again, and this alone seems a point in the man's favor. His technique was marveled at and his memory quite astounding those who had the pleasure of hearing him.

The last time Mr. Moss saw Harold Bauer, the great master of the piano told him that he was trying to get in connection with Fritz Kreisler, the violinist, as he was going to suggest that Kreisler come with him to Honolulu and build a summer home here. If Bauer and Kreisler should come it would mean a marked impetus in affairs musical.

Through Honolulu.

Passing through Honolulu in the Sonoma Monday were a party of tourists from Los Angeles who are en route to Australia where they will spend some time sightseeing. They included Mr. and Mrs. M. Parsons, Mr. John Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Angier, Miss Minnie Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bentley, Mrs. S. G. Fortney, Miss Minnie Fitcham, Mrs. Anne Eckbert, Miss Robertson, Mr. W. F. Stover, Mrs. Neil Slattery, Mrs. W. J. Storer, Mr. M. R. Whiffen, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Godhe, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pietsch, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Woods, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. E. Huxtable, Miss Myrtle Hall, Mrs. Katherine Boyce, Miss Edith Patton. Part of the party will continue on visiting the principal cities of Australia.

Coming to Hawaii.

This year Hawaii has sent a call far and wide, inviting people in all parts of the world to visit the Isles of Peace, and that call has been heard and answered from many quarters. A Los Angeles Times of recent date says that Wynn Mace, popular in the younger set of Pasadena, is coming to the islands, where he will remain until the close of the European war, when he will leave for the Orient. The Times says:

"Wynn Mace, a popular member of the younger social sets of this city, Pasadena and Los Angeles, is planning to leave early in October for Honolulu, Hawaii, which is to be the first stop of a two years' cruise around the world. Mr. Mace plans to remain in the Orient until the close of the European war, continuing westward through the continental countries as soon after peace is declared as possible."

Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson to Entertain for Miss Ethel Whiting.

Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson has invited a number of friends to a tea on Monday afternoon at her home in Makiki. The affair will be in honor of Miss Ethel Whiting, who leaves on Tuesday for California to be gone about four months.

To Spend Their Honeymoon in Honolulu.

From San Francisco has come the announcement of the engagement of Miss Lee Alexander, the daughter of Governor Moses Alexander of Idaho, and Michael E. Spiro, a businessman of that city. At the time their betrothal was made known Miss Alexander and Mr. Spiro said that after their marriage, which is to take place October 26, they will come to Honolulu to spend their honeymoon.

Like many of the engagements which have been announced in San Francisco recently the romance is wound closely around the affairs of the exposition. Miss Alexander only went to San Francisco three months ago, where she planned to spend some time visiting the interesting places at the exposition. While in California she met Mr. Spiro and their cupid, who is never a moment late, brought forth his bow and arrow. The result of his work you know.

Engagement is Announced.

An engagement of interest, which was announced this week, was that of Miss Jennie Macaulay, the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. J. R. Macaulay, and Jack Bevin of Oakland. Though Miss Macaulay and Mr. Bevin have been engaged for three years, only the intimate friends of the couple knew their secret, and it was only this week that the bride-to-be told her friends of her approaching marriage.

Miss Macaulay is to leave Honolulu in the Santa Maria on Sunday and shortly after her arrival in San Francisco will be married. She and Mr. Bevin will spend their honeymoon in the state of Washington, where they will visit a sister of the bride and, upon returning to California, will live near Lake Merritt, in Oakland, where Mr. Bevin has prepared a charming home for his bride.

Miss Macaulay is one of the best known of the Honolulu girls and for the past two years has been engaged in nursing here. She was formerly a student of Punahou Academy. When the Santa Maria sails Sunday there will be a large coterie of her friends at the dock to bid her bon voyage.

Madame Melba the Guest of the Crockers.

Madame Nellie Melba, who made so many friends in Honolulu during her recent visit in the islands, is now in San Francisco as the guest of the Will Crockers.

Town Talk says: "Madame Melba has been the guest of the Will Crockers at New Place ever since her concert last Sunday. The Crockers are old friends of the great singer, and when they asked her to New Place she accepted with alacrity. The fact is, Madame Melba found no peace or quiet in San Francisco. She is the idol of all Australians, and it seemed as if every man and woman from the antipodal commonwealth living here was seeking to make her acquaintance. She was besieged with cards, notes and telephone messages until she grew weary of trying to dodge. So she went down to the exclusion of New Place with unusual eagerness."

Miss Jessie Macaulay, daughter of Captain and Mrs. J. R. Macaulay of this city, whose engagement to Mr. Jack Bevin of Oakland is announced.
